Great BIOGRAPH Masterpiece
THE SLAVE

The pages of Roman History do not chronicle a more noble deed of self sacrifice than that set forth in this BIOGRAPH story, which shows how a devoted wife and mother went to the very extreme of mental, moral and manual endurance for the sake of her loved ones. The subject, while intensely dramatic, comprises a series of most beautiful pictures of Romanesque type. That good looking Woman plays the leading role.

Very Considerate.
Four old Scotsmen, the remnant of a club formed some fifty years ago, were seated round the table in the clubroom. It was 5 a. m., and Douglas looked across at Donald and said in a thick, sleepy voice:
"Donald, d'ye notice what an awful peculiar expression there is on Jock's face?"
"Aye," says Donald, "I notice that He's dead! He's been dead these four hours."
"What? Dead! Why did ye no tell me?"
"Ah, no—no—no," said Donald. "A'm no that kind o' man to disturb a convivial evening."

The Very Ideal
A Flushing (N. Y.) clergyman, pastor of a popular church there, received as a caller at his parsonage the other day a young matron carrying in her arms a chubby faced youngster.
"I want the baby christened," the mother said.
After the ceremony the clergyman started to write out the baptismal certificate required by the board of health.
Forgetting for the moment the date of the month, he remarked to the mother:
"This is the ninth, isn't it?"
"No, indeed, sir," replied the young matron indignantly. "It's only the third."

DIAMOND ROBBERY AT PEN-MAR

The Mystery Deepens. Diggs Family Leaves Pen-Mar. Detectives Have no Clue. Story of Theft in Detail.

Pen Mar, Aug. 18—Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night there was a robbery here which caused the loss of $4000 or more. Mrs. Jerome Diggs, of Baltimore, an elderly lady who has been sojourning at the cottage of George Myers, Ottoray, was the loser. She had been sitting on the porch and the house had a number of people in and about it. The halls were lighted and the doors open and some sneak thief got inside and entering Mrs. Diggs' room on the second floor made good his escape with a package or parcel containing some money, the exact amount uncertain, railroad tickets and diamonds valued at $1500.

The diamonds had been worn by Mrs. Diggs on several occasions about the house and park and were evidently seen and marked by the robber. There were a brooch valued at $1800, a ring worth $450 and a pair of earrings worth $908.

The W. M. R. R. detectives, and other are searching hard but so far have not a clue to the identity of the robber.

BIG GATHERING OF TEACHERS

Summer Meeting of County Teachers. County Superintendents Green of Cumberland and Wagner of Franklin to Address Meetings

The annual summer meeting of the Adams County teachers convened Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

About 150 teachers from all parts were in their places when County Superintendent Roth opened the meeting with a hearty welcome to all in attendance. Following the opening address Prof. Roth dwelt upon the importance of higher education for teachers and urged them to read persistently the school laws and instructions to teachers. In closing, five questions were substituted for argument to be taken up at the afternoon session.

1. "Shall the Adams County Teachers Institute adjourn at noon on Friday of Institute Week?"

2. "Shall the annual Summer Meeting be convened for one day or one day and a half?"

3. "Shall plans be set on foot for holding mass meetings during the school year?"

4. "Shall the directors order the schools to be opened on the last Monday of August?"

5. "Shall the teachers of the County ask for a day to visit schools in the county or elsewhere?"

It is understood of course that these questions submitted will be for consideration only, and no changes in the routine of work will be effected this year, as the days for opening different schools, arrangements for institute and other instructions have all been settled. Supt. Wagner of Franklin County is introduced as we go to press.

LINCOLN PENNY LIKE NICKEL

The new Lincoln penny had a pretty strong launching as a unit of the currency system. The telephone companies having discovered that, owing to the increased size and weight of the new penny, they are being used in lieu of nickles in the slot telephones. Proprietors of the penny slot machines, which automatically sell gum and peanuts, are also complaining, because the new currency is too large to go in their machines. It is not known what step will be taken to remedy these two complications.

Separating Them.
Mr. Grubb, an elderly bachelor, having been troubled for a week or two with a pain in his back, went to his doctor. The physician prescribed two large porous plasters and told him to call again in about a fortnight and report.

Mr. Grubb complied with directions. He went to a drug store and bought the plasters and after a prolonged struggle with them in his own room succeeded in getting them properly in place. Being a very small man, however, the two nearly covered his whole back. At the end of two weeks he called at the physician's office again. "Well, how is your back?" asked the medical man.

"Sound as a dollar; hasn't pained me any for ten days or more."

"Glad to hear it. You may take the plasters off whenever you please."

"Not much!" exclaimed Mr. Grubb, removing his coat and vest, taking off his collar and locking the door of the doctor's office. "I won't touch 'em. They're bigger than I am. What I want you to do now, doctor, is to pull me off the plasters."

Gas Tanks of the Reading R. R. Do $200,000 Damage.

NARROW ESCAPES FROM DEATH

Force of Explosions Was Terrific and a Score of Houses Were Crushed Like Paper—Inmates Thought an Earthquake Had Taken Place and Fled, Shrieking, From Their Homes.

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—Many workmen, hundreds of residents in the neighborhood, and numerous passers-by had narrow escapes from death, when two large gas tanks exploded in the gas and oil storage house of the Philadelphia & Reading railway, at Ninth street and Fairmount avenue, carrying fire, ruin and destruction in their path.

So terrific was the force of these two explosions, that more than a score of houses were crushed in like paper. The ground shook for squares around, causing persons to totter.

To add to the general horror, dozens of barrels of gasoline, and huge iron tanks, containing inflammable oils, exploded with terrific violence, filling the air with fragments of steel and billows of flame. Men were blown through the sides of buildings, their clothes torn completely from their bodies. Great beams fell, carrying masses of brick and mortar with them, around the helpless workmen, but a divine power seemed to protect them, for when the first pall of sulphurous smoke and flame had lifted, not a man was found killed.

The loss is estimated at over $200,000.

Many Buildings on Fire. No sooner had the noise of the explosions begun to die away than fire was seen to break from a score of buildings at once. Flaming masses of cotton waste, which were in storage in the buildings, fell in a rain of fire upon the nearby residences. A score of houses from Eighth to Fairmount avenue, nearly to Wallace street, were in flames at once. The rear walls of these buildings were blown in by the force of the explosions, and even the windows in the fronts of the houses were dashed out.

People fled, shrieking, from their homes, carrying their household goods with them. Many thought that an earthquake had taken place and made no effort to put out the flames. Many fire companies responded to the alarms and began to fight the flames. Every few minutes another explosion would take place. The large iron tanks in which oils were stored would become heated, explode, and send pieces of iron soaring through the ruins. Huge plates of metal spun through the air, endangering the work of the firemen and rescuers. The fact that many of the rescuers were not killed when they dashed into the ruins after the first explosions took place, can only be accounted for in one way.

The gas tanks were the first things that exploded. The tops of these tanks were the weakest point, and when they ignited the force of the explosion went upward. These tore out the frail roofing that was overhead, and allowed free outlet to the gas. The following explosions also took an upward course. The side walls of the buildings were not damaged by the explosions to any great extent, but later burned down. A string of freight cars which were backed in on a siding next to the building caught fire at once and blazed furiously, defying all efforts to extinguish them.

MRS. CULLOM DEAD

Illinois Senator's Wife Dies in Washington. Washington, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Cullom, wife of Senator Shelby M. Cullom, of Illinois, died of heart disease at her home in Massachusetts avenue. She was brought home from Atlantic City last Saturday dangerously ill, because of her request that she be permitted to die in Washington. At the bedside when Mrs. Cullom expired were her husband, her son-in-law, William Barrett Ridgley, the former comptroller of the currency, and her sister, Mrs. Fisher.

The body was taken to Springfield, Ill., today for interment.

Stork in Old Lee Mansion. Washington, Aug. 19.—For the first time in fifty years the stork has paid a visit to the old Lee mansion at Arlington. Mrs. Robert E. Lee, who was Miss Custis, granddaughter of Martha Washington, was born at Arlington, as was also one child to the Confederate general. The new baby is Miss Josephine Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Rhodes, and grandniece of ex-Governor General Charles E. Magoon.

Danish Army Angry. Copenhagen, Aug. 19.—The army is angry over the appointment of J. C. Christensen as minister of war and marine in the new cabinet. He was premier last fall when Minister of Justice Alberti was accused of corruption. Lieutenant General Lutken, generalissimo of the Danish army, has resigned as a protest against the appointment of Christensen.

HARRIMAN SAILS FOR HOME

Financier Coming Back to Rest, Weaker Than When He Left.

Cherbourg, Aug. 19.—More feeble than when he came to Europe for treatment, E. H. Harriman, railway king and financier, sailed for America on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. He returns two weeks ahead of the original date fixed.

When he arrived here on a special train a rolling chair was placed beside the car. Soon Mr. Harriman appeared on the step. Dr. Lyle, his physician, offered the financier his arm, but although he was pale and appeared feeble, he declined assistance and slowly descended to the platform of the station.

He also declined to use his rolling chair, and walked without assistance aboard the tender, which conveyed him to the liner. Dr. Lyle said that the baths have weakened Mr. Harriman.

Through his secretary, Mr. Price, Mr. Harriman said that he was going to his home at Arden to rest and complete the cure inaugurated in Europe.

CITY IS GRADUALLY SLIPPING INTO SEA

Mosques and Mansions of Dera Ghazi Khan Melting Away.

Bombay, Aug. 19.—The fate of the prosperous punjab city of Dera Ghazi Khan, which for months past has been gradually slipping into the river Indus, is now regarded as definitely sealed. Nothing can be done to prevent the encroachment of the water. The process of erosion is going on very rapidly. From 50 to 100 feet of the river front is being swept away every day, and one by one mosques, mansions and hovels are disappearing in the swift stream. Every effort of competent engineers to devise a way to protect the city has been futile. Dera Ghazi Khan has a population of 25,000.

GREEK FLAG SHOT DOWN

Protecting Powers Take Draastic Action in Island of Crete.

Canea, Island of Crete, Aug. 19.—A well directed shot fired by one of the parties of bluejackets landed from the international squadron anchored in Canea harbor brought down the flag-staff of the Canea fleet, and with it the Greek flag that has threatened to bring about war between Turkey and Greece.

A combined landing party, composed of detachments from the ships of the four protecting powers, was sent ashore before sunrise, and the task of removing the Hellenic emblem was carried out in a few minutes without any attempt at interference on the part of the islanders.

Most of the bluejackets then returned to their ships, but small detachments representing each of the four powers were left behind in occupation of the bastion of the fortress to prevent any attempt on the part of the Cretans to raise another flag.

Cretan gendarmes have been posted throughout Canea to maintain order. This action means that the protecting powers have returned to the island, and the situation is again much as it was before July 27.

WHY SO WEAK

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Gettysburg People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Gettysburg testimony to prove it.

Mrs. John T. Ohler, 116 W. Middle St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I was troubled with weak and disordered kidneys for over a year. My back ached constantly and at times pains extended into my head. I suffered from chills, was often very dizzy and was annoyed by the frequent passages of the kidney secretions. When Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I procured a box at the People's drug store and began using them according to directions. They helped me from the first and in a short time I was without a symptom of kidney trouble. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other persons suffering from this complaint."

Nervous Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nervine came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nervine saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me." A. G. C. LIBBY, Wells, Me.

There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

SUTTON WAS NOT MURDERED

Court of Inquiry Says Charges Are Unfounded.

OFFICER ALONE RESPONSIBLE

Court Declares Charge of Wilful Murder Made by Mrs. Sutton Is Purely Imaginary and Unfounded—Recommends That No Further Proceedings Be Taken at This Time.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The navy department made public the finding in the Sutton case. The court of inquiry which investigated the case found that Lieutenant Sutton was responsible for his own death, which was self-inflicted, either intentionally or in an effort to shoot one of the persons restraining him. The court further declares that his death was caused by no injury, as was alleged during the trial.

In the opinion the report says also: "That the charge of wilful murder and conspiracy to conceal it, made by the complainant, Mrs. Sutton, mother of Lieutenant Sutton, is purely imaginary and unsupported by even a shadow of evidence, truth or reason."

The court recommends that there be no further proceedings. There is a minority report of the court signed by Commander J. Hood, of the navy, president of the court. He says that Lieutenants Utley, Adams, Osterman, Willing and Bevan should have been court-martialed at the time, and that Lieutenants Adams and Osterman should have been punished in some mild form.

Commander Hood, however, concurs in the recommendation that no further proceedings against the officers involved be taken at this time, "only," he says, "because of their youth and inexperience at that time, and because of their being, in a sense, victims of a system of which they themselves were not responsible."

Captain E. H. Campbell, judge advocate general of the navy, submitted the result of the court's deliberations to Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop. Captain Campbell recommended that the findings, opinions and recommendations of the court be approved, and that the opinions expressed by Commander Hood likewise be given departmental support. In acting on the case Mr. Winthrop says:

"The above recommendations of the judge advocate general are approved. "By its concurrence in the opinion of the court and that expressed in the minority report, the department indicates its disapproval of the lax state of discipline shown by the evidence to have existed at the marine school of application prior to, and at the time of the death of Lieutenant Sutton."

"The result of this laxity has brought serious discredit, not only on the officers directly responsible for the efficiency of the institution, but, unfortunately, on the Marine Corps as a whole."

Counsel for the Suttons intimated, after the court's decision had become definitely known, that they were far from satisfied with the verdict, and that they probably would take the case to Congress, with a view of having a full hearing of the case by a committee of that body.

"All I can say," said Mrs. Sutton, when informed of the findings of the court, "is that there is still no question in my mind that my son did not commit suicide, and the decision by the court of inquiry has by no means halted me in my determination to vindicate him."

Judge Advocate Leonard issued a statement in which he upheld the justice of the findings of the court of inquiry. He declared that the inquiry had been conducted with great thoroughness.

Acting Secretary Winthrop said that he had dissolved the court of inquiry, and had given directions that copies of the findings of the court and its conclusions, together with his observations thereon, be sent to Henry E. Davis, the attorney for Mrs. Sutton, and to Arthur A. Birney, Lieutenant Adams' attorney.

New York, Aug. 19.—Harrington Putnam is continued as receiver of the estate of the late Charles T. Yerkes in a decision filed by the United States circuit court of appeals. The receiver was appointed in an action instituted by the Underground Electric Railroad company, of London, England, as creditor. Administration and distribution of the estate was asked.

Appeal from his appointment was taken by Louis S. Owley, executor of the Yerkes estate, and Mary Adelaide Yerkes, widow of the financier. The decision disallows this appeal.

MIMIC ARMY IN FIERCE BATTLE

Entire Left Wing of the Blues Forced to Retreat.

GREAT BATTLE NOW IMMINENT

Forces Under General Pew Were Hammered Unmercifully, Being Driven Back a Distance of Five Miles, and Losing One Battery and a Wagon Train.

Boston, Aug. 19.—General Tasker H. Bliss and his invading army of Red roated last night at least five miles nearer Boston than they were Wednesday, as a result of the operations in the mimic war game. The extreme left of the Massachusetts army of defense, known as the Blues, under command of Brigadier General William A. Pew, was hammered unmercifully, so that the entire left wing was forced to retreat, and in addition the Blues suffered the loss of one battery and a wagon train.

Far superior in actual numbers and in cavalry, the Red force swept down upon the Blues' left and drove first into one position and then another with irresistible force. For the past three days General Bliss has moved his army in three divisions massed, with the full strength of his cavalry on his left flank. In other words, the flying squadron has been between his infantry strength and the Blue arm, and an invincible strength it proved to be, with the experienced Tenth colored cavalry to infuse life and purpose into the volunteer cavalrymen from the District of Columbia and New York.

While the day's fighting forced General Pew to retreat and move his division headquarters from Robin's pond back to south Henson, the engagement was regarded as merely a preliminary to a greater battle which will be fought probably today. Indications are that the centre of this engagement will be somewhere in the vicinity of Indian Head pond, in the town of Henson.

General Pew endeavored to move his right wing, the First brigade, by a retrograde movement from its position in and around Bridgewater to a point east of south Henson, there to reinforce the Second brigade on the left wing, which was facing the entire Red army. Forced marches were made during the entire morning, but when fighting ceased they had not arrived in sufficient numbers to be of any assistance.

While General Pew was making this endeavor, General Bliss changed his tactics and, forming his entire army in one long single column, with the cavalry well on his left flank, drove straight for the Blues' extreme left. The forces met at north Plympton, where the Blues had only the Fifth regiment, part of the First Corps of Cadets and Battery B. Although the comparatively small force of the Blues made a bold stand, they were finally forced to retreat by reason of superior numbers.

During this engagement Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Talbot, of the First Corps of Cadets, was thrown from his horse and suffered so severe an injury to his leg that he was removed in an automobile to the division hospital for treatment.

WANTS JAP-AMERICAN FUSION

University Professor Recommends Inter-marriage of Races.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—"I believe that a little of the blood of the American Indian mingled with that of our own race would produce a strain of manhood which would be hard to equal."

So declared Professor William I. Thomas, of the department of sociology and anthropology, of the University of Chicago, in a lecture. The subject of his talk was "Race Prejudice." "The prejudice of the future will not be bound up with the tint of the skin, but with the degree of intellectual development and occupation," he predicted. "The Japanese have shown themselves to be our equals in many ways, and a little mixture of their blood into our countrymen would be good, I believe, however, that a cross between the colored race and the American would be too violent, and that it would not meet with success."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: J. ## The Scrap Book

A Sensitive Soul.

A poor foreign musician was doggedly wrestling with his trombone outside an English village inn. He knew that "The Lost Chord" was somewhere in that instrument, but the latter seemed loath to part with it. At length the landlord appeared at the door. The poor musician bowed and, doffing his cap, said, "Musig hath jarns," and smiled. The innkeeper smiled also, and kindly.

"Well, not always," he said, "YOU YOS RIGHT," but try that tune outside that red brick house and I'll give you sixpence."

Three minutes later the trombonist was back again, mud bespattered and forlorn. "You vos right," he said slowly and sadly. "Musig hath jarns not always—no. A mad yellow out ov dat house came, and me mit a brigge he knocked down—yes. He not like that tun no, no!" And he rubbed the back of his head.

"I thought he wouldn't," said the landlord. "He's just done a month's hard labor for stealing a clothesline from a back garden."

Ambition.

"The narrow vale is not for me!" Cried one aflame with youth's fierce fires. "I'll climb a mountain peak and see The world and all my heart desires!"

'Twas long and hard. On bended knee He reached the top. What mournful cry!

Age dimmed his eye! "Heart Throbs" in National Magazine.

Particular About the Plates.

A Washingtonian who has lived at hotels and restaurants nearly all his life and who is notably absentminded, especially when absorbed in talking about a subject that interests him, went out to dinner the other night.

He had plunged into a discussion before dinner and was continuing it animatedly throughout the oyster and soup courses. When the fish plates were placed on the table he followed the usual custom of the man who lives at hotels and wiped the plate off with his napkin. Instantly a butler removed it and placed another.

Deep in his discussion, the guest wiped that one with his napkin, and the butler replaced that. This happened a third time, and then the hostess said: "Please do not do that any more. I assure you the plates are perfectly clean, and, besides, I have no more of that pattern."—Saturday Evening Post.

An Ignorant Salesman.

An uncouth looking and overdressed young man entered a drug store and said:

"Gimme a brush!" "Very good, sir," said the polite assistant. "What kind of a brush—a toothbrush?"

"Toothbrush! Naw!" snarled the young man. "What would I want a toothbrush fur? Do ye think I've got hair on my teeth?"

Stories of Douglas Jerrold.

On the first night of the representation of one of Jerrold's pieces a successful adapter from the French rallied him on his nervousness. "I," said the adapter, "never feel nervous on the first night of my pieces." "Ah, my boy," Jerrold replied, "you are always certain of success. Your pieces have all been tried before."

He was seriously disappointed with a certain book written by one of his friends. This friend heard that Jerrold had expressed his disappointment and questioned him, "I hear you said — was the worst book I ever wrote." "No, I didn't," came the answer; "I said it was the worst book anybody ever wrote."

Of a mistaken philanthropist Jerrold said he was "so benevolent, so merciful a man he would have held an umbrella over a duck in a shower of rain."
